

ASSOCIATION FIGURES SHOW THAT BIG COWS GIVE MOST PROFIT

Figures collected from various cow testing associations throughout the country and compiled by the United States department of agriculture tend to confirm the previous conclusions of the department that within the breeds, so far as they were represented by these animals, which were mostly grades, the large cows are the biggest producers of dairy products and are also the most profitable. The evidence seems to point to the fact that in the individual farmer's herd it will be found that on the average the larger cows are more profitable than the smaller ones, although there are some indications that this may not hold true in the case of herds of native cattle containing much beef blood.

The cows whose records have been used by the department have been used so that only mature animals were used for these comparisons, thus eliminating any differences that might have been caused by the immaturity of some cows.

In one group for which figures have been prepared there were 160 cows classified as small, 291 as medium, and 129 as large. The small cows averaged 243 pounds of butterfat a year, and made an income over the cost of feed of 77.39. Those of medium size made 289 pounds of butterfat and an income over feed cost of 88.91. The large cows produced 345 pounds of butterfat and a return above feed cost of 105.74.

In another group there were 461 small cows, 483 classed as medium, and 326 large. Those in the first classification made 240 pounds of butterfat on an average and an income over cost of feed of 89.11. The medium made 278 pounds of butterfat and $106.09 over feed cost. The large ones produced 299 pounds of butterfat and an income over feed cost of 108.29.

These tables were based mostly on figures for the years 1916 to 1919, inclusive, which accounts for the high average income over cost of feed.

JAMES W. ROSENCRANTZ

Mr. Rosencrantz was born in the state of Indiana, May 9, 1856 and died at North Platte, March 7, 1922 at the age of 65 years, 9 months and 26 days. When 23 years old he moved to Adams county, Nebraska, but a few months later he took a homestead south of Cozad in Dawson county.

Mr. Rosencrantz was married in 1882 to Miss Annie Partridge and they lived on their homestead until 1909 when they moved to Cozad and in 1920 they came to make their home in North Platte. Mr. and Mrs. Rosencrantz were the parents of five children. Crystal became the wife of I. A. Gilbert of this city, Lysle died in January, 1919, Fay lives in New York City, a baby boy died in infancy and Dorothy is still at home. Mr. Rosencrantz is survived by three sisters and two brothers. They are Mrs. Merlam Young, Cozad; Mrs. Inez Salling and Mrs. Maud Brice, both of Missouri; M. D. Rosencrantz of Bignell and Frank Rosencrantz of Kansas.

Mr. Rosencrantz has been sick at his home for some time and recently his trouble was diagnosed as Bright's disease. A short funeral service was held at the family residence yesterday morning at 10 a. m. and the body was taken to Cozad where a service was held in the church which he helped to build, at 3 p. m. He was buried in the cemetery south of Cozad.

Mr. Rosencrantz was a fine old gentleman. The editor had the privilege of knowing him personally during the past two years, and he found him to be one of the highest type of Christian. He stood for the substantial things of life and took an interest in the things which count. We extend our deepest sympathy to the members of his family and those who were closest to him and loved him best.

STORIES OF HAPPINESS AND PROSPERITY FROM RAISING PUREBREDS

Five hundred replies to a series of questions on the utility value of purebred live stock have been received by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. These questions were sent to progressive farmers in all parts of the country and they are almost unanimous in praising the purebred as the fount from which the stream of prosperity flows. The writers of these letters, all of whom have taken the pledge in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign, place varying values on the purebred as compared with the scrub, but nearly all of them agree in spirit with the Nebraska farmer who wrote as follows:

"I desire to thank the originator of this questionnaire, for he has struck the keynote of better live stock. A purebred is either better for utility purposes or not and since it always costs more than one of mixed breeding it should return more in competition.

"The 'boss' of this farm is not blessed with a large family nor an overplus of muscular force, therefore everything must pay its way. We first saw the light with purebred Wyandotte chickens—found that we had more uniform birds, more eggs and a better market. Then we began to keep books on our grade cows and I discovered that I had been chamerd for a bunch of star boarders. So, we bought a few purebred heifers, (always had purebred males) and started without any idea of ever selling breeding stock—just to have good milkers and sell the calves as baby beef. Well, the neighbors liked the purebreds better and they came and bought the surplus; still doing it yet.

"Notice we stress utility. If the pedigree is fancy, all well and good; but the individual must make good on the utility basis. Foundation stock has gone to four adjoining states and most of the counties lying cross without expensive advertising or public sale. Common stock and culls are never priced as breeding stock."

Another farmer from the same part of the country writes an inspiring story in a few simple words. He says: "I am much pleased to add my little to your work, but it appears it is hard to get some farmers to realize the advantage of purebred stock and modern equipment. I will say that my wife and I started 26 years ago on a rented farm with a little property and some debt. We now have one of the finest flocks of Leghorns, the best head of Jerseys in this part of the state, and 240 acres of valley improvements. We never fell heir to any money, but lay our success to the keeping of purebred stock and giving it the right care. People in our town buy our milk at 10c a quart and want more. We now have 45 Jerseys, 1,000 Leghorns and 100 Duroc hogs, all purebred. I am your friend."

Almost without exception farmers who raise purebred animals make statements of this sort. They are through with the scrub forever.

Farm Bureau meetings will be held at Whittier school March 14, and at the Garfield school, March 15. H. D. Lute, secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation will speak at both meetings.
